

SUEZ Water UK

SUEZ Water UK

We're a major UK provider of water and wastewater treatment solutions.

Our unique combination of technologies, services and chemistry is used by industry, utilities, facilities management, commerce, healthcare and laboratories, for purifying, disinfecting, treating and managing water and wastewater.

Throughout, we provide the innovations and insight, knowledge, skills and resources to help our customers meet the challenges of today and the demands of tomorrow.

▶ we are experts in:

- water purification & disinfection
- water conditioning services
- industrial water systems
- water utilities & technical services
- laboratory services

water management systems & solutions

water purification & disinfection

We design, manufacture, install, commission and support standard and custom-built water purification and disinfection systems for the laboratory, healthcare, research, industrial and leisure markets.

Each system is backed by full customer, technical and applications support.

► a complete service for optimising your entire water cycle

water conditioning services

We develop and manufacture an extensive range of water treatment chemicals, for use throughout industry including the healthcare and facilities management sectors. Specialised services include Ofqual accredited training courses, compliance audits and risk assessment, plus tailor-made and white label chemistry.

industrial water systems

We provide a comprehensive choice of industrial process water and wastewater management services. These include consultancy and feasibility studies, design and engineering, operations and maintenance, plus full site water management and process optimisation.

water utilities & technical services

Our tailored services and innovative technologies help customers in the utilities sector to optimise their water and sewage processes. Specialised services include network asset management, smart metering, drainage and the management of wastewater, sludge and energy systems.

laboratory services

We also offer accredited environmental and analytical services via our own laboratories. These specialise in the delivery of innovative solutions for the analysis of drinking and process waters, wastewater, sewage, soil, landfill, fuel, metals and air.

